Redemption
Customer's Request for Redemption of the QDII Product:	Subject to the other requirements hereunder (including but not limited to the requirement on Minimum Redemption Amount, on or before 2:00 p.m. Beijing time of each Business Day ("Redemption Application Date") commencing from the fourth Business Day after successful subscription of the QDII Product (i.e. the fourth Business Day after the relevant Subscription Trade Date), the Customer may request to redeem part or all of the Subscription Unit(s) under the QDII Product. Any redemption request received by the Bank on or before the abovementioned cut-off time of a Redemption Application Date will be deemed as being submitted by the Customer on such Redemption Application Date. If the redemption request is received by the Bank after the aforementioned cut-off time on a Redemption Application Date, the Customer will be deemed as submitting the redemption request on the next Redemption Application Date and such next date will be deemed as the Redemption Application Date of that particular redemption request. The Customer's request for redemption must be made in writing on the prescribed Application Form which can be obtained from any branch/sub-branch of the Bank. Such Application Form must be signed by the Customer and submitted to the Bank in person, by facsimile or such other means as may be accepted by the Bank in its sole discretion. Unless otherwise agreed by the Bank, the redemption request shall not be revoked once it is submitted. If the Offshore Product Issuer delays disposing or rejects the redemption of any Offshore Product due to any reason (including but not limited to the occurrence of an Offshore Product Delay Event, an Offshore Product Transaction Suspension Event, abnormal market conditions, or any other situations under the Offshore Product Offering Document), the Bank will be entitled to delay disposing or refuse the Customer's redemption request of the QDII Product accordingly, without a need to pay any interest or compensation to the Customer. If the Offshore Product Issuer delays disposing the redemption of the relevant Offshore Product, the relevant Redemption Trade Date will be delayed accordingly, unless otherwise agreed by all relevant parties. In such case, since the Offshore Product Net Asset Value will be determined on the Redemption Trade Date, if the Offshore Product Net Asset Value on which the Customer's redemption of the QDII Product on that is based goes down during such delayed period, the Customer may suffer a loss of the principal. The Bank will send redemption Confirmation to the Customer after a successful redemption; and all information in relation to the redeemed Subscription Unit(s) in the QDII Product shall be subject to the provisions in such Confirmation.
Minimum Redemption Amount for Customer:	The Bank has right to adjust or waive any of such requirements in different sales channel for redemption at its sole discretion.

Redemption Trade Date:	The Bank will redeem the relevant Offshore Product from the Offshore Product issuer on the Redemption Application Date (the “Redemption Trade Date”), in case such a date is not an Offshore Product Trading Day for the relevant Offshore Product, then the Redemption Trade Date shall be the first following date that is an Offshore Product Trading Day. The actual Redemption Trade Date will be set out in the relevant Confirmation.
Redemption of the QDII Product by the Bank:	The Bank is entitled (but not obliged) to redeem and terminate at its sole discretion part or all of the relevant Offshore Product upon the following circumstances without prior notice to or consent from the Customer. In case of redemption under such circumstance, the Bank will upon receipt of the Redemption Amount from the Offshore Product Issuer distribute and pay the QDII Product Redemption Amount to the Customer in accordance with the “Redemption Amount” provision below: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. to comply with the requirements of the laws and regulations or the policies of the Bank; 2. the behaviour of the Offshore Product Issuer or a change of laws and regulations have affected the legality or compliance of the QDII Product; 3. the relevant cooperation agreements or terms between the Offshore Product Issuer and the Bank have terminated or materially changed for any reason; 4. the terms of the Offshore Product have materially changed; 5. the credit or contractual capacity of the relevant parties of the Offshore Product (including the Issuer, investment manager or investment adviser, custodian or the any other obligor) have materially and adversely changed; 6. abnormal market fluctuations or occurrence of other material adverse changes; 7. occurrence of Offshore Product Liquidation Event; or 8. other circumstances in which the Bank determines necessary to redeem the QDII Product at its sole discretion. If the Bank exercises any of the aforementioned redemption rights, the Customer may suffer losses of principal and return (if any). The Bank shall not be liable to the Customer or any other person in relation to the exercise of such right (including but not limited to the determination of whether to exercise such right and the determination of the redemption date etc.), as long as the Bank acts in good faith and with due care. The Bank will send a redemption Confirmation to the Customer after a successful redemption; and all information in relation to the redeemed Subscription Unit(s) in the QDII Product shall be subject to such Confirmation.

Redemption Amount:

When the Subscription Unit(s) of the QDII Product are redeemed, the Redemption Amount shall be roughly calculated in accordance with the following formula:

Redemption Amount = Redeemed Subscription Unit(s) x Offshore Product Net Asset Value on Redemption Trade Date (or, the redemption date as determined by the Bank in the case of a redemption by the Bank)

Provided that If the Subscription Currency is RMB, the Redemption Amount will be such amount determined in the manner described above and converted into RMB pursuant to the “Currency Conversion” provision above except that the Investment Currency is RMB.

For avoidance of doubt, the actual Offshore Product Net Asset Value may be materially different from the indicative price provided by the Bank or the price the Customer may obtain through other sources. When calculating the Redemption Amount, the Bank has the right to make reasonable adjustment (including rounding down the relevant amount to two decimal places) to the amount to be distributed to Customer according to the actual situation of the Offshore Product units redeemed by it. In addition, if in the future any Offshore Product Issuer makes any adjustment (e.g. charging redemption fee or requiring the Bank to pay other reasonable fee(s) arising out of the redemption, which leads to the Bank having to redeem the Offshore Product unit at a price lower than the Offshore Product Net Asset Value) to the price and/or fee etc. applicable to the redemption of the Offshore Product, the Bank has the right to make reasonable adjustment to the Redemption Amount accordingly.

Notwithstanding any other provisions in the QDII Product Subscription Documents, unless and until the Bank receives all relevant amount from the Offshore Product Issuer or the other obligors through the Onshore Custodian, the Bank is not obliged to make any payment (including but not limited to the Redemption Amount) to the Customer under the QDII Product. Meanwhile, if the occurrence of abnormal market condition, Offshore Product Redemption Delay Event or Offshore Product Transaction Suspension Event etc. leads to any adjustment to Offshore Product Net Asset Value which is applied in the calculation of the Redemption Amount of the Offshore Product, the Redemption Amount of QDII Product shall also be adjusted consequently.

Redemption
Payment Date:

- (1) If the Customer request to redeem the QDII Product, it shall be within 2 Business Days after the Bank receives the Offshore Product Redemption Amount from the Issuer though the Onshore Custodian, which is expected to be no later than the 10th Business Day after [the Redemption Trade Date].
- (2) If the Bank redeems the QDII Product, it shall be within 2 Business Days after the Bank receives the Offshore Product Redemption Amount from the Issuer though the Onshore Custodian, which is expected to be no later than the 10th Business Day after the redemption date determined by the Bank.

For avoidance of doubt, the actual payment of the Redemption Amount in accordance with the provisions above may be later than the expected payment date aforementioned. Under such circumstance, the Bank has no obligation to pay the Redemption Amount on the expected payment date, nor pay any interest, interest on arrears or any compensation.

Switching
Switching QDII Product Subscription Unit Upon Request by Customer	For the Offshore Product(s) available under this QDII Product, issued and managed by the same Offshore Product Issuer, which also meet the switching requirements of Offshore Product Issuer (for details, please refer to the switching related terms and conditions of the relevant Offshore Product Offering Document as updated from time to time)(“Switchable Offshore Product(s)”), subject to the other requirements hereunder (including but not limited to the requirement on Minimum Switching Amount), the Customer may on or before [14:00] Beijing time of each [Business Day](“Switching Application Date”) commencing from the fourth Business Day after successful subscription of the QDII Product Units corresponding to any such Switchable Offshore Product (i.e. fourth Business Day after the relevant Subscription Trade Date), apply to switch part or all of the QDII Product Subscription Unit(s) corresponding to the Switchable Offshore Product (“Switch-out Subscription Unit”) to the QDII Product Subscription Unit corresponding to another Switchable Offshore Product (“Switch-in Subscription Unit”). Such Application Form must be signed by the Customer and submitted to the Bank. Unless otherwise agreed by the Bank, the switching request shall not be revoked once it is submitted. Please note the risk level of the Offshore Product corresponding to the Switch-In Subscription Unit must be equal to or lower than the Customer’s specific risk profile. Switching-In Subscription Unit

If the Switch-In Product Denomination Currency is same as Switch-out Product Denomination Currency, the Switch-In Subscription Unit(s) to be obtained by Customer shall be roughly calculated in accordance with the following formula:

$$\text{Switch-In Subscription Units} = \frac{\text{Switch-Out Subscription Units} \times \text{Offshore Product Net Asset Value corresponding to the Switch-out Subscription Units on Switching Trade Date} \times (1 - \text{Switching Fee Rate})}{\text{Offshore Product Net Asset Value corresponding to the Switch-In Subscription Units on Switching Trade Date}}$$

If the Switch-In Product Denomination Currency is different from Switch-out Product Denomination Currency, the Switch-In Subscription Unit(s) to be obtained by Customer shall be roughly calculated in accordance with the following formula:

$$\text{Switch-In Subscription Units} = \frac{\text{Switch-Out Subscription Units} \times \text{Offshore Product Net Asset Value corresponding to the Switch-out Subscription Units on Switching Trade Date} \times (1 - \text{Switching Fee Rate}) \times \text{Foreign Exchange Rate on Switching Trade Date}}{\text{Offshore Product Net Asset Value corresponding to the Switch-In Subscription Units on Switching Trade Date}}$$

Please note, the above-mentioned Foreign Exchange Rate on Switching Trade Date will be decided and adjusted by the Offshore Product Issuer according to the Foreign Exchange Rate applicable in the overseas market. Such Foreign Exchange Rate may differ significantly from the Foreign Exchange Rate applicable in China or the Foreign Exchange Rate known from other channels by the Customer, which will affect the Switch-In Subscription Units and the market value of QDII Product held by the Customer.

For avoidance of doubt, the actual Offshore Product Net Asset Value may be materially different from the indicative price provided by the Bank or the price the Customer may obtain through other sources. Switch-out price of the Switch-Out Subscription Unit(s) corresponding to a particular Offshore Product may be affected by adjustment to the redemption price of the relevant Offshore Product (please refer to the adjustment in the “Redemption Amount” provision above). Switch-in price of the Switch-In Subscription Unit(s) corresponding to a particular Offshore Product may also be affected by adjustment to the subscription price of the relevant Offshore Product (please refer to the adjustment in the “Subscription Unit(s)” provision above). Both of these could impact the Switch-In Subscription Units to be obtained by Customer. The actual Offshore Product Net Asset Value and the numbers of the Switch-In Subscription Unit(s) finally obtained by Customer shall be subject to the switching Confirmation issued by the Bank.

The above switching formulas are for reference only, and for each Offshore Product, the switching formula used by the Issuer or the manager of the Offshore Fund may be different from the above formula(s), and the Switch-In Subscription Units the Customer actually obtains may be different from the calculation result from the above formula(s). The numbers of the Switch-In Subscription Unit(s) finally obtained by Customer shall be subject to the switching Confirmation issued by the Bank.

Switching Trade Date:	The Bank will apply to the Offshore Product Issuer to switch the relevant Offshore Product on the Switching Application Date (“ Switching Trade Date ”). If such Switching Application Date is not an Offshore Product Trading Day of the relevant Offshore Products, the Switching Trade Date shall be the first following date that is an Offshore Product Trading Day for such Offshore Products. The actual Switching Trade Date will be set out in the relevant Confirmation.
Switching Fee Rate:	The current switching fee rate charged by the Bank is 1%, and maximum is RMB 500,000 equivalent The Bank reserves the right to adjust such Switching Fee Rate from time to time, and actual applicable Switching Fee Rate will be set out in the relevant switching Application Form.

If the Subscription Currency is RMB, the Bank will pay to the Customer after converting such dividend to RMB according to the “Currency Conversion” provision above, except that the Investment Currency is RMB. If “Dividend Reinvestment” is indicated as the “Dividend Distribution Method” in the Offshore Product Information Sheet, then all dividends from the Offshore Product would be reinvested by the Bank to subscribe new units in the relevant Offshore Product, and no cash dividend will be distributed. Upon successful subscription of such new units of Offshore Product, the Bank will distribute on a pro rate basis the newly added QDII Product units from such dividend reinvestment to Customers then holding such QDII Product in proportion to the number of Subscription Units held by them, and will send a dividend Confirmation to such Customers. If “No Dividend Distribution” is indicated as the “Dividend Distribution Method” in the Offshore Product Information Sheet, then no dividend distribution will be made by the Offshore Product, while all proceeds (if any) recorded will be reflected in the Offshore Product Net Asset Value. All the information in relation to the dividend distribution of this QDII Product shall be subject to the relevant Confirmation issued by the Bank.

In addition, the Redemption Amount and/or the dividend amount (if any) will also be affected by the relevant bank transfer fee.

Offshore Product Transaction Suspension Event:	Under some special circumstances, calculation of the Offshore Product net asset value may be suspended, and thus suspend the issuance, redemption or switching of the units of the Offshore Product. These special circumstances include but are not limited to: (1) assets invested by the Offshore Product are restricted, suspended or cannot be realized based on normal market condition; (2) normal valuation of the Offshore Product is unable to be conducted because of communication interruption, market disruption, or other emergency events; (3) liquidation event occurs in respect of the Offshore Product or is likely to occur; (4) other circumstances where the Offshore Product Issuer or the manager considers necessary to suspend the Offshore Product transactions. If an Offshore Product Redemption Delay Event or an Offshore Product Transaction Suspension Event occurs, Customers’ subscription, redemption and switching requests in respect of the QDII Product will be affected accordingly, but the Bank shall not be liable for that. However, the Bank will perform its obligations to the Customers under the QDII Product after it exercises and performs in good faith and with due care, its rights and obligations in respect of the Offshore Product.
Offshore Product Liquidation Event:	Offshore Product may be terminated, dissolved, liquidated or merged into other funds managed by the same Offshore Product Issuer or be acquired by other funds under some circumstances (including but not limited to, net asset of the relevant Offshore Product becoming lower than the amount required to manage the Offshore Product efficiently, or significant change to political, economic or social situation, or to protect the interests of Offshore Product investors). If an Offshore Product Liquidation Event occurs, the Bank will perform its obligations to the Customers under this QDII Product after it exercises and

HYPOTHETICAL ANALYSIS

THE RETURN IN THIS HYPOTHETICAL ANALYSIS DOES NOT EQUAL TO THE ACTUAL RETURN. PLEASE BE CAUTIOUS WHEN MAKING ANY INVESTMENT.

All figures and scenarios are hypothetical and for illustration purposes only, and do not represent the actual price or value of the Offshore Product or all possible outcomes. They are also not the actual or future performance of the Offshore Product or the QDII Product. Actual performance and returns from the QDII Product may vary from those illustrated below and such variations may be significant.

Assumptions:

1. The Customer select overseas fund A as the Offshore Product under the QDII Product, and the Denomination Currency of the overseas fund A is USD;
2. the Principal Amount for investment is USD100,000, the Subscription Fee Rate is 3.0%, and the Offshore Product Net Asset Value when subscribing is USD20, so the number of Subscription Units which the Customer obtains is $USD100,000 \times (1-3.0\%) / 20 = 4,850$;
3. This hypothetical analysis does not take into account the return and/or loss arising from a change in foreign exchange rates if the Customer uses RMB as the Subscription Currency.

Scenarios	Descriptions	Redemption Amount
Scenario 1 (Profit)	Offshore Product Net Asset Value is USD40 at Customer's redemption	$4,850 \times USD40 = USD194,000$
Scenario 2 (Loss)	Offshore Product Net Asset Value is USD10 at Customer's redemption	$4,850 \times USD10 = USD48,500$
